A DAY OF FUN-FILLED KNIGHTS

Churchill Square rings with the sounds of medieval combat as Sir Matthew (of Normandy) Barnett, centre, and Lady Shannon Poole, right, display their combat prowess Sunday during the Knights in the Square event. Warriors and bards, and courtly lords and ladies, were invited to a revel by Citadel Theatre in honour of its production of Monty Python's Spamalot. Groups taking part included the society for Creative Anachronism, the living Backwards Medieval Society, Knights of the Northern Realm, Knighthaven, Amtgard, Odin's Ravens, Underworld: Kalidor and the Council of Barons.
